Come, come, days that we treasure,
We live in you—
We yearn now for the pleasure
At college we knew;
Friendships will always bind us,
In youth we live, for mem'ries remind us
Of Orange and Blue—
Come, days fullest in measure
Of our A. U.

1945 . . . September once more, with printer's ink and copy demanding our precious time . . . weeks flew by . . . the Eagle lost an editor—gained two! . . . Girl reporters seemed the only remaining representatives of the lost breed of reporters—but here and there the male of the species poked an inquisitive nose! . . . the multitude of editorial worries grew steadily . . . What shall we do for copy? Has anyone been murdered lately? . . . Bitter winds and snow made news hunting difficult—but the Christmas holidays made life wonderful! . . . 1946 . . . the Eagle increased its staff and formed a tighter organization . . . Why must the printer be so far away? Frantic taxi rides to get in the copy — one memorable night — icy rain—and the printer closed when we got there! . . . Moving troubles developed—do we have an office, or don't we? Wonder of wonders, a quonset hut at the NBDS was provided—and the Eagle moved in . . . exams caught us in the middle of an issue . . . Great Balls of Fire! Where did all this copy come from? . . . Spring issues seemed to be easier—maybe it was the weather — or an established routine . . . June again, and a sigh of relief—and regret, too!

LETTER FROM THE EDITOR

Here it is at last! We're sorry we kept you waiting so long, but, believe us, we couldn't help it. It was a long, hard pull.

Thanks to Sara Simpich, "Mack" McIntosh, Mel Leonard, Lois Fessenden, Sheila Young, and all the rest who lost sleep over this project. That's why this is no dream book.

To all of you who have so patiently and frequently inquired, "How's the 1946 Aucola coming?," we're glad to be able to say, "It's come!"

ALICE LUNDEGAARD

A Thought for Your Future

As you are about to set the capstone upon one portion of your preparation for the future, we wish you success and happiness. The world needs new people with new ideas; particularly so if they are skillful enough to adjust themselves so their new ideas fit into the American Way of Life. To do this, you will need adaptability, creative ability, and the wisdom of experience. This thought is well expressed in these lines:

"God grant me the serenity to accept things I cannot change, courage to change the things I can, and wisdom to distinguish between the two."

Auld Acquaintance . . .

We remember when you were little wee ones and shopped in your mothers' arms. We watched you with pride as you grew to school age and were graduated from one shop to another until you were all grown up. Now, as you're "taking off" into the real business of life, we wish you well in all undertakings. We are proud to number you among old friends and frequent visitors who know our faithful endeavor, who trust our good taste, who appreciate our continuous efforts to improve our services. Do come back, once in a while, to renew a pleasant friendship.
